A JUVENILE HORDE.

NEW YORK YOUNGSTERS SEE A

THEATRICAL PERFORMANCE.

Six Thousand Street Urchins Swam Into

A Metropolitan Playhouse and Make

Away with Everything Portable Within Reach—A Pandemonium.

Fully 6,000 shouting, screaming, chattering, cheering youngsters attended the performance of "The Scout" given for poor children at Niblo's, and outside the Indians as regards noise and drowned

the reports of the pistols with their enthusiastic yells.

Such an audience has never before been inside the walls of a playhouse.

There were boys there with dirty faces,

and boys whose natural color did not give one an opportunity to see if they were dirty or not. Little girls were there, too, some white and a few black,

and they took as much delight in the performance and made as much noise

as the boys.

The doors of the theater were besieged

as early as 7:30 o'clock, and by 8:30 there was a tremendous jam about the Broadway and Crosby street entrances. Once the doors were opened there was no use trying to collect tickets. The boys simply swept everything before them. In an incredibly short time every seat was obtained at least two occupied, and every available place from which the stage

could be seen was occupied.

The boys hung on the posts like monkeys, occupied the stairs, stood on the radiators, and if it wasn't for the ten big policemen who were there to preserve order there was no knowing what they would have done. The youngsters talked to each other from all parts of the house.

"Hay, Yaller!" shouted one urchin

across the gallery. "Did you see me

brudder?" "Naw," came the answer.

A REAL GHOST STORY.

STRANGE EXPERIENCES OF A RE-

SPECTABLE BUSINESS MAN.

Three Times in the Course of His Life

He Has Seen the Shade of His Dead

Mother, and Each Time She Seemed to Be Trying to Warn Him of Danger.

"There are more things in heaven and earth, Horatio."

It came to the knowledge of a reporter

quite by accident that in an eminently respectable house lying between Madison and Fifth avenues, on an eminently respectable street, a gentleman well known in business circles has repeatedly experienced what may be called, on lack of a better word, visitations. This the reporter learned, while the gentleman

was quite unaware of his connection with the press. Thanksgiving evening, when conversation turned on commercial and other occult subjects. From talk it was discovered that the man in question was an almost perfect "sensitive" to hypnotic influences.

The discovery was probably a surprise to most of those in the room. The man is perhaps forty-five years old, under the medium height, stout and inclined to be balding, fond of the good things of life,

a shrewd business man, yet he was absolutely at the beck and call of an ama-

ble, tolerably developed hypnotic

power. When, after some grotesque manifestations, the subject was restored

to consciousness, the company, with one accord, pressed him to explain his feeling while under the influence.

"You are asking impossibilities," said

the man good humoredly. "For while in the hypnotic state my waking self

is submerged, and I—real I, the ego

of the metaphysicians—am what is called unconscious, although something that must be a second I, or, alter ego, is

ALMOST A CHOLERA SCARE.

An Incident of the Peculiar Fright That

Seized New York City.

"Let me tell you how I came near being the innocent cause of a big cholera

scare," said a well known lawyer to a reporter one afternoon. "It happened in this way: I was breakfasting alone in East Twenty-eight street at a private

Italian boarding house filled with the leading people from several comic opera companies, including 'Robin Hood' and

'Puritania.' My landlady, Mme. S., whose English pronunciation is at once

the delight and despair of those who seek to imitate or understand it, came in and said: 'Mista John, writta me una note. Say Alda wum' are down. Comma queek. You putta na mom att'a bot,

Sophie.'

"I was in haste to get down town,"

continued the narrator, "and I wrote it out as I understood it. 'All the women are down; come quick.' I thought that the message sounded odd. She said, however, that it was 'alla rat,'

and sent it to Dr. X. around the corner in Lexington avenue. That worthy young physician glanced at the note, and thinking that it opened the way to fame

for him informed the board of health

that he had discovered an outbreak of cholera in an up town Italian boarding house. He telephoned the same message to several newspaper men of his acquaintance.

"In less than twenty minutes a squad of burly policemen appeared in front of the house, followed by the doctor, six reporters and several officers of the board of health, whose instincts had been wrought up to a white heat by the message. Mme. S. answered the incessant ringing of the door bell in person.

She was attired in a becoming morning

Col. J. W. McKenzie of this place was the executioner secured by Warden Hale to hang Jose Gabriel at San Quentin on Friday of last week. This makes the twelfth convicted murderer hanged by the Colonel in this State.

The Blade is the name of a sprightly little weekly that has recently made its appearance in Santa Rosa. Paul S. Luttrell, son of ex-Congressman Luttrell is the editor and proprietor. We wish the new candidate for public favor success.

Julius Fochetti purchased from Judge Breitenbach this week lot 30x150, on Spain street adjoining his blacksmith shop on the east. The price paid was $510 or $10 per front foot. It is Mr. Fochetti's intention to erect on his new purchase an electric light plant.

The Methodist Church building which was recently removed from Napa street to First-street East, will be a great improvement over the old edifice when ready for occupancy, which will be some time next month. A new front is being put on and a steeple eighty feet in height is being constructed. When completed the church building will be one of the commanding edifices of Sonoma.

Tommy Bolger, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Bolger of San Francisco, is studying medicine under a prominent physician of the above city. Tommy, while visiting in Sonoma several years ago, nearly lost his life by falling into an unused well located back of the old bank building, in which there was ten feet of water. Many of the young man's friends will be glad to hear of his prosperity.

C. Nestor of the Pacific Phonograph Company, San Francisco, will give an exhibition of the Edison phonograph for the benefit of the Columbia Athletic Club of this place, which will be given in a few weeks. The latest songs and musical selections from world-famous singers and musicians will be introduced by this marvelous instrument. This will afford the people of Sonoma a rare treat.

Go to the Sonoma House for good accommodations. Rates reasonable.

The Weather and Crops.

The weather the past week has been very variable, alternating between sun, rain, fog and frost. On Saturday and Sunday last nearly an inch and a half of rain fell. Tuesday was sunshiny and pleasant. The following day, however, clouds made their appearance, since which time it has been cold, almost cold enough for snow. In consequence crops of all kinds have been greatly retarded, but in no wise damaged. The rainfall for the season has been as follows:

To March 1st.....	24.01
" 4th.....	.50
" 5th.....	.97
" 7th.....	.72

Total.....26.20

The Donahue Railway.

A. W. Foster, one of the new owners of the San Francisco and North Pacific Railway (the Donahue road,) says that the new company will not organize until the next meeting of the stockholders, which will take place on March 30th, but he is quite sure that no material changes in the personnel of the road will be made. The head officers are all old and tried officials, whose past records show that they know their business, and they have conducted affairs so as to make the road a money-making enterprise at all times, said Mr. Foster, and, therefore he could see no reason why any changes should be made.

Dr. Leavenworth's Will.

Dr. T. M. Leavenworth's will has been filed at the County Clerk's office. It provides that $1,000 be given to his sister, Charlotte Brown of New York, that his wife, Cornelia T. Leavenworth, receive an annuity of $500 and that legacies of $1,000 be left to Hattie, Walter and James H. Carey of San Francisco. The real and personal property goes to his wife and James C. Carey as executors, for the payment of his debts.—Santa Rosa Republican.

The Proposed Chemical Works.

There is nothing new to report in the matter of the proposition to erect chemical works in this town, which will give employment to several hundred people. The committee having the affair in hand have not yet waited upon Mrs. Robt. C. Johnson, who is expected to subscribe liberally to the stock, as she has been quite ill the past week and unable to receive callers.

Blooded Stock.

Harry N. Krager, proprietor of the Bank Exchange, purchased this week a fine dark bay horse from Senator Fair's ranch. This beautiful animal which now stands in the vacant lot between the Bank Exchange and the Sonoma Valley Bank building is ready for inspection. He can be used for either a hat rack or a wash board.

Nervy.

San Francisco numbers among its population the nerviest individual of any large city in the State if we except El Verano. A few days ago the following advertisement appeared in the "Want" column of the Evening Bulletin: "Wanted—Anyone having a lady's phetion, with horse, harness, etc., can leave the same with a responsible party for its use during the spring and summer months. Address H. box 4, Bulletin office." Evidently the advertiser believes in going the whole hog or none at all. He not only asks for the phetion, horse and harness, but wants the et ceteras, which we presume takes in the horse blankets, buggy robes and whip, hay, oats and barley, the hostler, and a coachman and footman in full livery. Why if that beggar should secure the rig he asks for he would ride to the devil sure.

The Home Paper.

No man who has the interests of his country at heart should fail to subscribe for his home paper says Newspaper Man. In encouraging its publication he is assisting in building up about him enterprises, the success of which at the same time enhance the value of his own surroundings. It gives him more news of immediate concern than the big city papers; it talks for him when others belie him; it stands up manfully for his rights; he always has a champion in his home paper, and those who stand up for another should be well sustained. The interests of both are linked and equal, and mutual ties are fastened. Therefore it is to the interest of everyone to support the home paper, not grudgingly, but in a liberal spirit; as a pleasure, not as a disagreeable duty, but as an investment that will amply repay all expenditure.

Good accommodations at the Sonoma House. C. F. Rodin, proprietor.

SEQUEL TO AN ELOPEMENT.

A Repentant Wife and a Forgiving Husband.

Mrs. Fannie Piggott, wife of Rev. Wm. Piggott of Healdsburg, who disappeared from her home there two months ago and was since found in Sacramento with N. Bounds, a young man from Geyserville, returned to her parent's home in Santa Rosa last Tuesday evening. Mrs. Piggott is a pretty little woman only twenty years of age and is the mother of two bright little girls. A few days ago, repenting of her action in leaving her husband and children, she wrote to the former from Sacramento begging him to come there with the children that she might see them once more. She also implored his forgiveness, offering at the same time to return home if he would look upon a reconciliation with favor. The Rev. Mr. Piggott went to Sacramento and agreed to receive his wife back again, forget the past and reinstate her in her Healdsburg home. However, he had her and Bounds arrested. The preliminary examination was held at Fairfield, Solano county, and the trial of the wife came up Monday. When she was called up before Superior Judge Buckless her attorney stated that a reconciliation had taken place in the family and letters were produced which had passed between the two. She pleaded guilty to the charge, and Judge Buckless, after giving her some wholesome advice on the enormity of the offense committed, fined her $50, upon payment of which she was discharged. The Judge with due solemnity assured her that her youth, her children and consideration for her husband and parents were elements which caused him to be merciful. Bounds is over thirty years of age, and claims to have a wife in Fresno. He will be prosecuted to the full extent of the law for his crime.—Examiner.

Chinese Registration.

Deputy Collector of Internal Revenue W. S. Davis reports that a number of Chinamen have applied to him for registration, according to the provisions of the Geary act, recently. Friday two applied for registration and Mr. Davis says he looks for quite a rush in a few days. He says the Chinamen have abandoned the idea of fighting the law, having come to the conclusion that it will be cheaper to comply with the regulations than to engage in a big legal war. The matter of Chinese registration is left to the Internal Revenue Department. Some people have acquired the understanding that Chinamen should go to the County Clerk for registration, but that is incorrect. Sonoma county Chinamen must go to Mr. Davis' office in the Quadrant block at Santa Rosa. There must be two witnesses who are citizens of the United States, and each applicant must present three unmounted photographs.—Santa Rosa Republican.

The meanest man on earth is Henry Smith of East Oakland, who has been sentenced to six months in the County Jail for beating his poor old mother.

What a Pity

that so many otherwise attractive, polite and particular people afflict their friends by the foul and disagreeable odor of their breath; it is mainly caused by disordered digestion, and can be corrected by removing the cause, by using that pure medicine, Sulphur Bitters.—Healing Magazine.

Rand, McNally & Co., 166 Adams St., Chicago, Ill., desire a local manager to take the management of the sale of their new Universal Atlas. Any one desiring a pleasant and profitable position would do well to write them.

Forest Planting.

In the coal regions of Pennsylvania nearly every piece of available timber has been cut away to form props for the archways and for various other uses in connection with coal mining. Nearly every stick and every piece of plank used in these regions now all have to be brought from a distance. The Girard estate has endeavored to solve the problem by making some small plantations as a test. Eight years ago a large number of larches and Scotch pines were planted; plow furrows were made and driven through the underbrush growing up where the old forests had been cut away, and one-year-old seedling larches and pines planted. The larches now average some seventeen or eighteen feet high, and are particularly healthy and thrifty. There can be no doubt, from these experiments, that forest planting in these regions would be an undoubted success.

It may be noted that the larch was the most popular of forest trees in the early planting on the western prairie, but the leaves were attacked by a fungus; the timber therefore did not properly mature. It finally fell into disrepair. The larch has suffered much in reputation, but it must be remembered that the conditions for the larch are a mountain tree, one thriving in comparatively poor soils, and the low altitude and rich earth of western prairies were entirely foreign to its nature. The Girard plantings are some 1,400 or 1,500 feet above the level of the sea; these are the conditions of its own home, and the remarkable healthiness of these trees shows that they appreciate the position in which they find themselves.—Meehan's Monthly.

One Man's Pessimism.

"The pessimism of some men is simply astounding," said a visitor in the city. "Why, I know a fellow who has insulted another man for saving his life. The way it happened was this: 'A devilish, bright but knockabout sort of a chap named Whittaker was one day sitting on the veranda of a country house in a southwestern town chatting with a number of friends. Some one happened to call him by name, and an old white whiskered gentleman standing near by came waltzing up to the crowd, and holding out his hand to Whittaker said: 'Is your name Whittaker?' 'Yes,' was the reply. 'Yes, you little Willie Whittaker, of Balesville, Ark.' 'Yes,' again. 'Well, don't you remember the time you fell off a flatboat into the river about twenty years ago, and how you'd 'a' got drowned if I hadn't dived in and saved you?' 'Yes,' Whittaker said, 'I do, you old fool. What good did it do? I've been playing poker for twenty years and never won a cent. I've been kicked and cuffed over fourteen states, and I'm out of a job now. Goodbye.' And the really indignant Whittaker stamped off down the steps, leaving his innocent benefactor agast with surprise."—St. Louis Republic.

The Origin of Profanity.

Swearing, it is presumed, came in with the original man, for as Adam was an agriculturist it is not presumed that he was free from the trials and troubles, vexations and weaknesses of other farmers. The old Greeks and Romans were most profane and picturesque swearers, and were accustomed to rattle up their gods in the most finished style when things weren't coming their way. To speak colloquially, it was a cold day when the Olympian deities did not hear their names taken in vain by the impatient Joves or paled the way to classic mythology for future generations. This reprehensible practice has prevailed in the Latin countries to the present day, and the French woman says "mon Dieu," and the Italian or Spanish woman swears by the sacred properties with as little compunction as Octavia or Cornelia would have compassed the name of Jove or compiled the altar of Vesta with an ordinary statement of fact.—New York World.

Last of the Seine Swimming Baths.

The great floating baths which form their large number form so conspicuous a feature of the Seine in Paris will be forever long gone to exist. Under an order of the prefect, dated some years ago, they are gradually disappearing. No new ones are allowed to be built, and the old ones must not have any substantial repairs done to them, but must be broken up when no longer, if the term may be permitted, seaworthy. The largest of all is called "La Samaritaine," and as this does not seriously impede river traffic, and it is owned by a number of small shareholders, whose interest in it is being gradually extinguished, the new rule about repairs is less rigidly enforced than in some other cases. La Samaritaine is, moreover, considered as in some sort a public establishment, inasmuch as it grants tickets at greatly reduced rates to children in public schools and to the poor of Paris.—London News.

A "Close" Minister.

The Rev. Mr. Jones, of Blewbury, with a nest egg of £200 and a stipend amounting to £50 per annum, left at death the sum of £10,000. He had been rector of his parish for forty years, and during all that time only one person had been known to sit at his festal table. No fire was ever lighted in his house, nor was a servant kept. In winter he would visit his parishioners to keep himself from starving of cold rather than light a fire at the rectory.—Cassell's Journal.

FRIENDS OF THE PUBLIC.

MEN OF MARK WHO GATHER NEWS.

Some Personal Sketches and Incidents of Brain Workers in the Highest Walks of Life.

[New York Tribune.]

The reader of the morning paper who sits by his cosy fireside and is informed of what is transpiring in every quarter of the globe, seldom realizes the amount of actual labor necessary to ascertain, collect, write, transmit, and print this wonderful mass of news. And yet, aside from the special dispatches, it is largely centered in one office, located near the Telegraph building in New York and presided over by a quiet gentleman in a most masterly manner.

Mr. William Henry Smith, manager of the Associated Press, is in the prime of life, and possesses a mind clear as the requirements of the public. To properly and promptly handle the mass of matter that passes through his hands is an enormous undertaking, and one which may well test the capacity of any mortal. Mr. Smith has always been an arduous worker, and it is by no means surprising that his health should, in the past, have suffered more or less therefrom. The mental strain necessary to the performance of his duties caused difficulties of digestion which are not easily overcome, and also a uremic colic, both painful and exhausting. All attempts to overcome these tendencies by force of will power failed, and he consulted eminent physicians, among them Dr. Barthol of Philadelphia. In spite, however, of the care and skill of these practitioners, he grew worse constantly. The result can be described in his own words. He said: "My brother, C. W. Smith, manager of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad, came to visit me, and seeing my condition, took upon himself to conduct my case, and so secured a preparation which, I have since learned, he had used successfully himself and in his family. I began its use, and commenced improving at once. This improvement continued, until now I am well, and wholly free from the influence of Warner's Safe Cure. I have since then used the remedy with good results in my family, and keep it on hand constantly. I consider it a remarkable medicine."

Mr. George Alfred Townsend, of famous newspaper correspondent, whose letters, written over the name of plume of "Gath," have attracted such wide attention, said to the writer: "While in England I had a pleasant visit with ex-Gov. S. B. Packard, our Consul at Liverpool. We were remarking on the death of the Governor said: 'Townsend, I when the Governor said: 'Townsend, I can't see why so many of our public men are passing away, victims of one dread scourge. There is no need of their dying if they will consent to avail themselves of what has been provided for them, as I have.' Gov. Packard went on to describe his experience, and I found his

with dog muzzling came to light the other day in the Ternes quarter of Paris. An old lady, whose pet had been seized among others, complained that while her pig was captured the police allowed that of her neighbor, a painter, to roam at will without a muzzle. The inspector assured the lady that the artist's dog was always muzzled, a learning that the muzzle in question was merely painted on the animal's head. Lou don Tit Bits.

Money in Electricity.

A very recent estimate of the capital invested in the electrical industries in the United States is $720,000,000, and of this amount $350,000,000 represents the proportion which electric lighting and power have attained. $100,000,000 is also the estimated investment in electrical supplies, of which the electric lighting and railway appliances constitute a large proportion. ## In Africa and India and in South America monkeys are often employed to gather the fruit which grows too high to be reached by the natives.

England has one horse for every twelve persons, and only an average of four hours of daily sunshine in which to ride or walk.

In China wealthy people buy their coffins long before they need them, and exhibit them as ornamental pieces of furniture.
